Gas In Far North

Production Of Octane Aviation Gasoline At Fort Norman

Reuben W. Macdonald, president of the Northwest Company, Limited, said in an interview at Edmonton that production of 17 octane aviation gasoline at Fort Norman, N.W.T., will yield 1,270 air miles north of Edmonton. It is a complete new plant, the company's subsidiary of Inland, Limited, indicated that the new plant last fall and went into operation this summer, Macdonald said. Fought Blaze In Bomber

Young Radio Operator Won Victoria Cross For His Bravery

Pilot Officer Craig Arthur Connor, Toronto, told his own story of the bravery of radio operator John Hannah in a Royal Air Force bomber downed by the latter the Victoria Cross.

If it hadn't been for him it would have been impossible for us to tell the story," said Connor who himself was in the Distinguished Flying Cross for the death-flight night.

"After we were hit, I could hear sounds of ammunition exploding and screaming against the armor plating at my back. I couldn't get to touch with the crew on the intercom. Then I saw the navigator and gunner and they were all out but I was safe and explosions.

"How Hannah escaped beats me, completely. Yet I don't seriously 'burned and burnt' or out of his hospital before long.

Hannah, at 36, the youngest man in the war to win the V.C., was wireless operator-gunner in the bomber. Connor was flying. Returning from an Antwerp raid, the bomb was hit by a plane carrying a fire which spread rapidly and threatened to engulf the gas-line tank.

Hannah forced his way through the fire to get extinguishers and helped the navigator and gunner. He was forced to bail out. He remained in the blaze although the plane's ammunition was exploding.

He was almost blinded him. Finally the young pilot put the fire out and helped Connor escape. The damaged plane safely took to the second century.

Geese Fly High

But Do Not Try To Tangle With Airplane Traffic.

Our northern fliers get a ship with the world gone these days. See curious things in their frequent trips between the prairie and the Arctic.

During recent weeks forest fires in the north have been a constant feature. The heavy fall of smoke over the north has been a constant feature.

The northern blizzard report large numbers of geese moving south as the weather improves.

At times they are seen at altitudes of 10,000 feet flying over the smoke. When the geese fly to light at night, they are like the plane, seen to be in the smoke and light down to a landing.
